

Barriers to Bridges - by: Craig J. Sefa (July 8th, 2010)

Based on Mark 4:35 – 5:21 (inspired by a boat ride on the Sea of Galilee)

Capo 2

Intro: C#m F# A2 (2x)

E5 B2 C#m A2
13 miles across the sea to a Gentile Cemetery

E5 B2 C#m A2
A stormy night, the waves so high, we thought we might not see the light of day

E5 B2 C#m A2
All for a lunatic, demon possessed, outcast shell of a man

E5 B2 C#m A2
But then we saw him healed, and sent to reveal the Master's saving plan

C#m F# A2
Why, oh why, am I risking my life to follow this man

C#m F# A2 --- E
Why, oh why, didn't I just stay home in bed, on dry land.

Chorus

E C#m A2
Am I crazy, stepping out on the unknown

E C#m A2
To a world where, where the people aren't my own

E C#m A2
Have I lost my mind, sailing through the storm to see

E C#m A2
What this Jesus, seems to have in mind for me

C#m F# A2 E
There he goes again, turning barriers into bridges

C#m F# A2

E5 B2 C#m A2
With a cross beam heavy on his back, barely still alive

E5 B2 C#m A2
He climbed up through the crowds, the people he loved, who now mocked and cried crucify

E5 B2 C#m A2
His closest friends were all but gone, as he forgave and breathed his last

E5 B2 C#m A2
But the we saw him raised, up from the grave, to reveal His saving plan

C#m F# A2
Why, oh why, am I risking my life to follow this man

C#m F# A2 --- E
How can it be that I must take up my cross and die to find life?

Chorus

E5 B2 C#m
Sometimes I wish I'd never left my nets behind

E5 B2 A2
The life I had wasn't much, but it was all I knew

E5 B2 C#m
Now I can't turn back but by faith I must go on

E5 B2 A2
By His grace, leading everyone to our Father's home

Chorus

Tag:

C#m F# A2 E
Here we go again, turning barriers into bridges.

Barriers to Bridges – Lyrics*Verse 1:*

13 miles across the sea to a Gentile Cemetary
A stormy night, the waves so high, we thought we might not see the light of day
All for a lunatic, demon possessed, outcast shell of a man
But then we saw him healed, and sent to reveal the Master's saving plan
Why, oh why, am I risking my life to follow this man
Why, oh why, didn't I just stay home in bed, on dry land.

Chorus:

Am I crazy, stepping out on the unknown
To a world where, where the people aren't my own
Have I lost my mind, sailing through the storm to see
What this Jesus, seems to have in mind for me
There he goes again, turning barriers into bridges

Verse 2:

With a cross beam heavy on his back, barely still alive
He climbed up through the crowds, the people he loved, who now mocked and cried crucify
His closest friends were all but gone, as he forgave and breathed his last
But the we saw him raised, up from the grave, to reveal His saving plan
Why, oh why, am I risking my life to follow this man
How can it be that I must take up my cross and die to find life?

Chorus:

Am I crazy, stepping out on the unknown
To a world where, where the people aren't my own
Have I lost my mind, sailing through the storm to see
What this Jesus, seems to have in mind for me
There he goes again, turning barriers into bridges

Bridge:

Sometimes I wish I'd never left my nets behind
The life I had wasn't much, but it was all I knew
Now I can't turn back but by faith I must go on
By His grace, leading everyone to our Father's home

Chorus:

Am I crazy, stepping out on the unknown
To a world where, where the people aren't my own
Have I lost my mind, sailing through the storm to see
What this Jesus, seems to have in mind for me
There he goes again, turning barriers into bridges

Tag:

Here we go again, turning barriers into bridges.