

Kingdom of God – by: Craig J. Sefa (completed June 15, 2008)

B A2 E

F#m A2
They're a hundred metal shacks spread across the hillside

B C#m B A2
With a rusty metal barrel collecting the rain to drink

F#m A2
And somewhere across the ocean in a one room mud hut

B C#m
There is a child crying for a single piece of bread

B A E
Enter The Kingdom of God

Chorus:

C#m B A2
In a woman struck with grief, in a man who lost his way

C#m B A2
And in a child playing barefoot in the street

C#m B A2
In a joyful celebration with friends and family all around

C#m B A2
And in every outcast, lonely one you meet

B A E
Enter The Kingdom of God

B A E
Enter The Kingdom of God

F#m A2
There's a woman in a mansion with a Mercedes in the drive

B C#m B A2
She's got it all, but it's not enough now she just wants to die

F#m A2
And there's a man in a big glass office at the center of his world

B C#m
No clue how much she needs him Or how much he needs the Lord

B A E
Enter The Kingdom of God

Chorus

Ending:

A2 B
We fill our lives with every distraction

A2 B
Keeping busy, what's the attraction?

A2 B C#m
(in our) pursuit of happiness and eternal bliss

B A
In the kingdom of heaven

(no chord) B C#m B A2
(but Jesus said) The kingdom of heaven _ is at hand

A2 B C#m B A2
Right here, right now, in the midst of the crowd it is at hand

A2 B C#m
So when will we see them through the eyes of Jesus, and love them the way he does

B C#m B A2 (no chord)
The kingdom of heaven _ is at hand So what are you gonna do right now

B A E
But Enter The Kingdom of God

"Kingdom of God" (by Craig J. Sefa, 2008) – Lyrics

They're a hundred metal shacks spread across the hillside
With a rusty metal barrel collecting the rain to drink
And somewhere across the ocean in a one room mud hut
There is a child crying for a single piece of bread
Enter the Kingdom of God

Chorus:

In a woman struck with grief, in a man who lost his way
And in a child playing barefoot in the street
In a joyful celebration with friends and family all around
And in every outcast, lonely one you meet
Enter the Kingdom of God
Enter the Kingdom of God

There's a woman in a mansion with a Mercedes in the drive
She's got it all, but it's not enough now she just wants to die
And there's a man in a big glass office at the center of his world
No clue how much she needs him or how much he needs the Lord
Enter the Kingdom of God

Chorus

Ending:

We fill our lives with every distraction
Keeping busy, what's the attraction
in our pursuit of happiness and eternal bliss
In the kingdom of heaven?
but Jesus said, "The kingdom of heaven is at hand"
Right here, right now, in the midst of the crowd it is at hand
So when will we see them through the eyes of Jesus, and love them the way he does
The kingdom of heaven is at hand

So what are you gonna do right now
But enter the Kingdom of God
